

It's time we talked

Pornography, young people and sexuality:

Parent presentation

IT'S TIME
WE TALKED

Why it's important:

Pornography has become a parenting issue we can't afford to ignore. For young people growing up online, pornography is almost impossible to avoid. Consumption – particularly for young men – has become normalised. Pornography has become default sex educator, with serious implications for young people's capacity to navigate a sexuality that is respectful, safe, mutual and consenting.

Maree Crabbe:

This session will be led by Maree Crabbe, Director of the violence prevention project It's time we talked. Maree is Co-Producer and Co-Director of the documentary films Love and Sex in an Age of Pornography, broadcast on SBS in Australia and in 35 other countries, and The Porn Factor, broadcast on SBS. She is also author of In The Picture – a whole school resource to assist secondary schools to address the influence of explicit sexual imagery. Maree's articles on young people, sexuality and pornography have been published in academic and news media.
